

JEWELLERY

Heart-Shaped Jewellery That's Anything But Clichéd

BY ALICE CARY

26 OCTOBER 2020

Heart-shaped jewellery is not just for Valentine's Day. Contemporary spins on the classic motif can act as a welcome mood-booster in this current period of uncertainty – especially now that Zoom calls and FaceTime catch-ups are once again replacing IRL meetings and get-togethers.

Command attention in Alice Cicolini's eye-catching drop earrings, or with Bea Bongiasca's unique swirling ring. Or if subtlety is more your vibe, a sleek heart-stamped bangle from Jessica De Lotz would make an ideal new everyday companion.

Wear your heart on your sleeve and around your neck (or in your ears) this winter, with Vogue's edit of the best heart-shaped jewellery to shop now.

7/34

Cartier

Cartier diamond and 18-karat gold heart-shaped earrings ca. 1960, £POA, available at Alvr.com.