AMERICAN MADE

When the inherent industrious and ingenuity of the American character met an abundance of forests on the East Coast during colonial times, a world-famous furniture industry was born. North Carolina, Philadelphia, and New York were early centers, while more modern styles and methods prevailed in the Midwest in the early 20th century. This justifiably proud heritage continues today.

French designer Noé Duchaufour-Lawrance has added new items to his Modern Family collection for Bernhardt, including the American walnut Charlotte guest chair. Bernhardt Design, from $1,700, bernhardtdesign.com.

All of Kindel's furniture is made to order, including this bar cabinet, which boasts a "Bird and Branch" design (also available in a chinoiserie design). Kindel, $15,080, kindelfurniture.com.
